Welcome!

LIFESTYLE BLOG

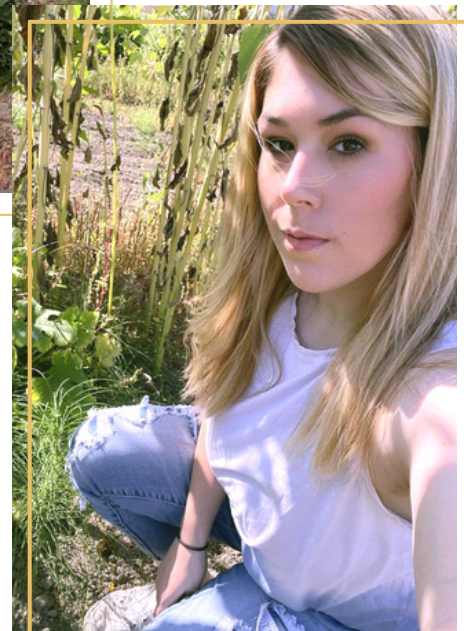

Welcome to Little Green Farmhouse, a family-run blog rooted in the heart of the Pacific Northwest. We share our journey of gardening, farming, and sustainable living, bringing together stories that inspire a return to nature and community-driven values. With a focus on creativity and authenticity, our blog highlights everything from restoring our farm to family-friendly projects that bring joy and growth to everyday life.

Founded by Jackie and supported by her children, Little Green Farmhouse is more than just a blog—it's a celebration of life's simple pleasures. We aim to connect with like-minded individuals and businesses that value storytelling, community engagement, and a passion for the outdoors. Whether through collaborations, product features, or sponsored content, we strive to deliver meaningful partnerships that align with our values

About Jackie

Hello! I'm Jackie, the founder of this blog. I love to design websites and garden.

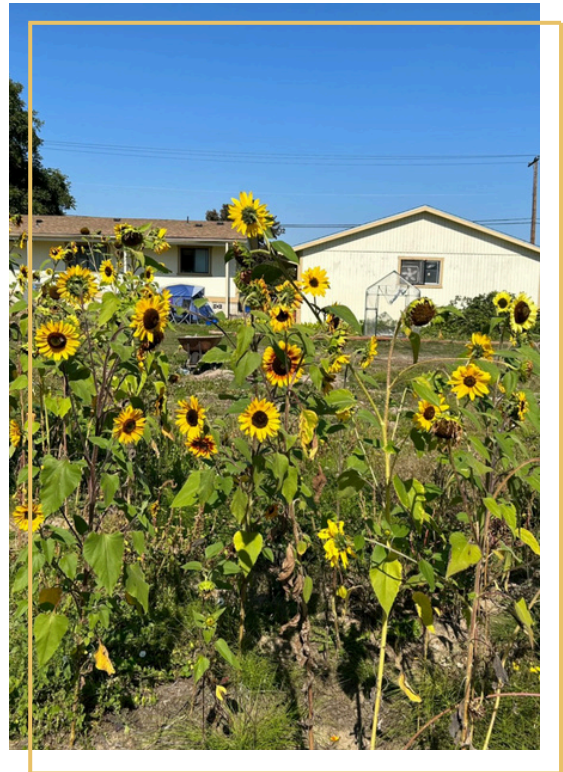

The Blog

LITTLEGREENFARMHOUSE.COM

Little Green Farmhouse is a family-focused blog dedicated to gardening, farming, and sustainable living in the Pacific Northwest. From tips on growing your own vegetables to restoring a historic farmstead, we document our journey to inspire others to embrace a simpler, more intentional lifestyle.

Our posts include practical advice, personal stories, and DIY projects to help families reconnect with nature and their communities.

Our blog is also a space to celebrate the beauty of outdoor living and the joy of working together as a family. Whether it's sharing seasonal recipes, showcasing farm-to-table ideas, or exploring creative ways to make the most of your land, Little Green Farmhouse invites readers to join us in building a life rooted in purpose and connection.
